Vysočina offers a number of opportunities to spend your free time while exploring the rolling landscape of the Bohemian-Moravian Highlands. For those who want to go beyond a flat terrain and would like to awake their inner sporting self, the region offers a dense network of cycling with a combined length of more than 2,500 kilometres. This provides you with the opportunity to see the beautiful nature and numerous cultural sites in the region, three of which have been inscribed into the UNESCO World Heritage List.

In some sections, the route copies the terrain and is more strenuous; however, cyclists will be rewarded for sporadic climbs with gorgeous views of the surrounding countryside, forests and picturesque villages. Bicycle tourism has always been a part of Vysočina.

One of the options of how to get to know Vysočina by bicycle is to use two regional cycling routes, labelled with two-digit numbers 16 and 26, which branch out of the EuroVelo 13 long-distance European route. They head to Jihlava and connect the Vysočina region's capital with the Austrian region Waldviertel.

Cycling path No. 26 passes through the picturesque landscape of the West Moravian part of Vysočina. The 138-km-long route runs through the Jihlava River valley to the historic town of Třebíč, inscribed into the UNESCO World Heritage List, all the way to the town of Raabs an der Thaya in Austria. The entire route runs off main roads as much as possible, using mainly fields and forest paths or less busy roads: a large number of sections are suitable for families with children.

Another option if you want to get to Vysočina from EuroVelo 13 is in Slavonice, where you can connect to cycling route No. 16. This route of supra-regional importance runs from Slavonice in South Bohemia via the city of Telč, inscribed into the UNESCO World Heritage List thanks to its structural and architectonic uniqueness, and continues via Třešť to Jihlava and Hlinsko. From Vysočina's regional capital, you can return to the starting point by train or connect to cycling path No. 26 Jihlava – Třebíč – Raabs, and create a 203 km loop back to EuroVelo 13.

To enjoy your cycling trips with all the comforts, we have prepared a list of accommodation facilities for you within 10 kilometres from both cycling paths. Their operators are well aware that you want to rest after a long day on your bike and therefore, they are prepared to offer you affordable accommodation, a roof above your head and a lockable space for your bicycles.

Whether you choose a hotel, a guest house or sleeping under the sky, we hope that you get to know the region, its history, culture and social life and your will rest in guest houses and hotels and regenerate your strength in the middle of Vysočina's pristine nature.
